

THE FORCE OF EVIL

And Future Generations

Practical solutions to real problems for Parents, Schools and Churches.

—Bible Study Curriculum Chapter Included—

by
Dr. Frank Douglas Garrett

THE FORCE OF EVIL
And Future Generations

Copyright © 2011
Frank Douglas Garrett

TheForceOfEvil.com

ISBN: 978-0-9835413-0-1

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means without written permission of Gentle Shepherd Ministries.

Except where otherwise indicated, all Scripture quotations in this book are taken from the King James Version of the Bible.

Ketch Publishing

4675 N. Benton Dr
Bloomington, IN 47408
www.KetchPublishing.com

*Well it may be the devil
or it may be the Lord
But you're gonna have to serve somebody.*

Songwriter, Bob Dylan

Dedication

This book is dedicated to my late mother, Geneva, who taught me to follow a Christian worldview, to pray, and to love Jesus; to my wife Renee who exemplifies love and is my partner in all things, and to my children, grandchildren, extended family, lifelong friends and to the next generation.

About the Author

The author of this book is Dr. Frank Douglas Garrett. He has earned four collegiate degrees and for four decades he has labored in the field of education. Frank Douglas has served as a teacher, coach, counselor, professor, and university academic dean fully committed to educating students toward maturity of intellect, character, and the acceptance of God's unconditional love in preparation for lives of service and leadership. During his career the author feels blessed to have been honored for his leadership accomplishments by the President of the United States as well as by state and local politicians, GM/UAW and by the department of the Navy. In October of 2005, he was recognized by Indiana's Governor Daniels as "A Distinguished Hoosier," the highest civilian award Indiana bestows on its citizens. He was also honored by his hometown of Odon, Indiana with a key to the city in August of 2006. During the summer of 2007 he suffered a devastating fall while coaching basketball that nearly cost him his life. He credits the players' immediate prayers for bringing him back. He is now fully recovered, and he and his wife, Renee, are looking forward to once again visiting schools and churches in the spiritual warfare battle against the forces of evil.

The author describes himself as a husband, father, grandfather and lifelong Christian educator who is very thankful for Jesus and for second chances. Born in mid-July during a leap year, the author was aptly described by a youth pastor once as "going a hundred miles an hour and lit on both ends.” Frank grew up in a single parent home characterized by poverty. The family lived in a series of rental homes, and the author drifted restlessly on his own early in life, surviving more than one hundred tough encounters, some very dangerous while desperately pursuing a life of worldly pursuits. He relates the tests and trials in his book “Affliction and the Force of Evil” and in his powerful church presentations.

During the Vietnam War the author served honorably for four years as a sergeant in the U.S. Marine Corps. He was a cryptographer with a top secret clearance. He also played basketball for the Hawaii Marine All Star team that won the Hawaii Rainbow Classic championship in one of the biggest Division One basketball upsets in history, defeating Wisconsin of the Big Ten 69-62. Returning to college with a U.S. Marine tattoo on his left arm, the author was selected as a two-time all conference first team /All American mention at Henry Ford CC before accepting a booster laden scholarship to play for Detroit College in 1969. His most memorable basketball highlights included playing against the 1966 final four MVP Jerry Chambers and his Utah Utes who were ranked number two in the nation, playing against his childhood Indiana hero, and NBA rookie of the year, Terry Dishinger, and scoring in double figures with points and assists against the future NBA legend Bob Lanier's number one ranked team in the nation, St. Bonaventure University in 1969.

As a young man, one night Garrett fell to his knees in total emptiness and profound isolation. He cried out to the Lord and believes he was literally pulled from the gates of hell that night, fully surrendering and experiencing new birth. “The night I hit my knees on the highway was just one late night like others-- far too many to count. I screamed out to the heavens, “Lord, help me” And in that instant, I became a new person. “The only way I know to describe this is to say that I knew at that moment I was safe, shielded in God's protective arms. I submitted with all my heart and soul, and I felt God's love surround me at that precise moment. I remember reading somewhere when a person is saved he will realize that Jesus is in the Father and they are in Jesus and Jesus is in them. That's what it felt like to me. It was the safest feeling a person can have, total safety with God. And that is what I want for others to experience.”

Author Engagements

Invite the author to visit your church, school or organization by contacting him at TheForceOfEvil.com

I look forward to meeting you when I visit your church or organization to speak about my book and the challenges we all face as Christians. God is leading the world in miraculous ways. He is calling on us all to become more involved and to strive passionately to elevate the name of Jesus. I am determined to help in the fight against discrimination, injustice and religious intolerance that is targeting Christians in America and all over the world. My goal is to leave you with powerful applications and spiritual tools to use in your homes, schools, churches and communities— tools you will use to transform future generations.

I'm praying regarding our time together and feel God calling me to travel with you in this way. I pray that all those who need to hear the message will travel to the church or organization on the day I speak. Will you be in prayer for my visit?

Review

The Force of Evil reveals, in written form, the heart of a man who has a deep love for his God and for his country. Dr. Garrett is passionate about both. He is unafraid to speak of the problems facing this country, and he is unashamed to say that understanding God and His principles are the solution to these problems wherever they are found. While carefully challenging views that are non-Christian, he is respectful of all people. He makes a careful distinction between those who simply do not believe and those who have an agenda to destroy the Judeo-Christian values that have been a part of this country from the beginning. Dr. Garrett serves as a watchman whose clarion calls should not be ignored.

Dr. Reverend Allen Burris

Mitchell, Indiana

<http://allenburris.blogspot.com/>

Table of Contents

Dedication .....	4
About the Author .....	5
Author Engagements .....	8
Review .....	9
I. Introduction .....	13
II. Standing Firm .....	25
III. Self Reliance-17th &amp; 18th Centuries .....	41
IV. Reliance on the Devil-The 20th Century .....	59
V. The Loss of the Christian Worldview .....	83
VI. Proof of God— Scientific, Biblical, Mathematical .....	111
VII. Taking Action: Application— Parents, Churches, Schools, Universities .....	133
VIII. Discussion Guide .....	179
Fun Test: Are you a Christian or a Christianphobe?.....	193
Endnotes .....	197

I.

Introduction

Christianity is under attack and we're at war in America for our freedom, for our culture, for our liberty, and for our constitution. The hatred and fear of Christianity and its followers may be termed a sort of Christianphobia that continues to spread like a slow poisonous malignant cancerous growth, largely ignored. The poison is destroying families, educational institutions, human dignity, religion, values, and hope by denying people the opportunity to embrace a Christian worldview. It seems that many dismiss God from society without qualms, but few actually see or perceive the grievous reality of the damage being done to the Christian worldview, the one and only philosophy that brings comprehensive meaning and hope in a broken immoral world to future generations. God will be triumphant in the end but it is up to each one of us to serve Him while on this earth in reaching out to others to depopulate Hell.

The forces of evil led by the devil are grossly intolerant of Christians while denying Christians themselves freedom of expression. They are responsible for the splintering of the traditional family and the bankruptcy of sane policy-making. They are directly responsible for the destruction of Christian churches and the murder and persecution of Christians in Lebanon, Iraq, Syria, Egypt, Turkey, and other regions. They are responsible for the cultural sewer that calls evil good and features gratuitous violence and sexual immorality in movies, music and video games. The forces of evil are responsible for illegal drug use, school failure, crime, abortion, gambling and pornography and for limiting the right of Christians to practice their religion in the public square. The forces of evil are responsible for many teachers, including university professors, who are intent on brainwashing unprepared students to deny Jesus Christ and turn away from their parents and from their churches. And the forces of evil are responsible for denying the Christian worldview to children worldwide.

For years politically correct governments all over the world have been denying the Christian worldview while shoving a secular immoral doctrine down the throats of their citizens from positions of power resulting in family breakdown, eroding values, world unemployment and debt, increases in abortion, suicide, bankruptcy, discontent, fear and moral confusion unlike anything the world has ever seen. The loss of the Christian worldview is directly related to government and science turning away from God and morality and toward the forces of evil. Science is supposed to be impartial, embrace uncertainty and ambiguity while seeking answers, following the evidence wherever it leads. Instead, it immediately dismisses God as a presupposition to research. Science claims faith is beyond reason while faith is actually at the crux of reason and clear thinking. To be clear, no one challenges the science of true biology which can be proven by how plants grow and how animals multiply. The true idea of God's design as biological change over time has absolutely no relationship at all to Darwin's theory or to God's Creation. That is where the world has gone wrong with the one big lie attempting to dismiss God. America used to be a country where our freedoms to worship were blessed, cherished and protected but now that is under attack by the forces of evil.

As an American, I am most familiar with the force of evil culture in my country but have come to realize through my research that there are great similarities for Christians worldwide in all majority Christian nations: Majority Christian nations are spread throughout the world. There are major populations of Christians in Europe, Great Britain, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand, the Philippines, Southern Africa, Central Africa, East Africa, Central Africa, and South America just to name a few. Even in the Middle East, Christianity is the second-largest religion after Islam.

The United States is the largest Christian country in the world by population, followed by Brazil, Mexico, and Canada. The Christian website www.the-tidings.com reported that "Christian growth in Africa is nothing short of astonishing" and that Africans represent 33% of the planet's Christians. It has also been reported by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Rowan Williams, in an article for the Great Britain China Center that China will soon become home to the largest Christian population on the globe. There are an estimated 80 million Protestants in China in 2010. It is not illegal to be a Christian there, but China still maintains tight control. Christianity is the largest of all religions worldwide with more than two billion followers of Jesus and that is because it is based on truth as substantiated with fulfilled prophecies.

Canada, another Christian nation, is linked historically to a very intriguing story that includes hidden treasure and an attempt at the formation of a New Jerusalem in Nova Scotia during the 1300's, fully one hundred years before Columbus' discovery of America. If interested in learning more, you can look up Oak Island and The Knights Templar to read about the mystery of King Solomon's treasure and the legendary cup Jesus drank at the Last Supper, the Holy Grail. It has been the focus of the world's longest and most expensive treasure hunt and one of the world's deepest and most costly archaeological digs. <sup>1</sup>

America is exceptional as a Christian nation and as a result remains the greatest country in the world. Of course, this doesn't mean it's perfect. But it remains the last best hope for the rest of the world in their quest for freedom. However, America has drifted so far away from the Founding Fathers' original idea of a Constitutional republic based on the Holy Bible and the Constitution that it is hardly recognizable. Chapter two pays tribute to the self reliant brilliance of the Founding Fathers of America.

This book identifies a number of the lies and liars representing the forces of evil in history responsible for the cultural damage humanity is witnessing. Chapter 3 takes a survey look at the 20th century, the bloodiest century in history born out of Darwin's work to remove the necessity of God from the earth and to call evil good. Students of world history will recall these evil names: Hitler, Marx, Mao, Stalin, Lenin, and Sanger---all followers of Darwin's evolution in one form or another. These individuals thought they could discount the power of God, but failed.

The debate over what will damage the western culture more is similar to the old debate I recall discussing in my Astronomy college class over whether light traveled in packets or waves. It turned out it was both, as light traveled in waves of packets. And the answer “both” applies to the question of whether the combination of secular political correctness and Muslim Islamic political terrorism represents an even larger threat than the evil dictators of the past. The political Islamists including Hezbollah, Al Qaeda, The Muslim Brotherhood and Hamas want to put Sharia law into place are making progress globally. Their numbers and power are increasing and the west has no strategy in place to counter their movement. The Koran’s teachings on jihad are quite chilling. The Koran calls upon believers to wage war against the disbelievers, which includes Jews and Christians and everyone else. The Koran says that those Muslims who refuse to fight are hypocrites, and are themselves no better than disbelievers, being destined for punishment in this world and an eternity burning in the fires of Hell. The average Muslim reading the Koran is drawn to support violence, potentially radicalizing anyone who takes the Koran seriously. Muslim political terrorists propagate a global narrative of violence through their hatred while moderate politically correct Muslims stand silently as witnesses to the carnage. In 2010 and 2011, Christian churches have been bombed in Egypt, Iraq, Nigeria and the Philippines. In Indonesia a mob of 1,000 Muslims burned down two Christian churches because, according to one commentator, local Islamic authorities determined there were “too many faithful and too many prayers.” In Iran, scores of Christians have been arrested. In Pakistan, a Christian woman received the death penalty for the “crime” of insulting Islam; the governor of Punjab promised to pardon her and was then assassinated for the “crime” of blasphemy. The facts speak for themselves: A December 2010 poll by the Pew Research Center reports strong majorities in Pakistan, Egypt, Jordan and Nigeria favoring Sharia law which includes stoning for adultery, amputation for theft and death for the sin of converting to Christianity. Global political Muslim terrorists hate Israel and Christianity and brag about large radicalized Muslim communities fully expecting to fly the flags of Islam over all of Israel, Europe and America in the years to come. Those attacking Christians call themselves “jihadists” – meaning Muslim warriors who fight for Islam. The crowds that gathered in front of the destroyed Egyptian church shouted “Allah Akbar! – “Allah is greatest!” Changing this culture of hatred against Jews and Christians cannot be done overnight, but it is crucial to wage the war against those who terrorize. If Israel were to lay down all weapons it would be attacked and destroyed without question by Al Qaeda, The Muslim Brotherhood, Hamas, and Hezbollah supported by Iran, Syria and others. Peace is impossible as long as children are taught to hate and to love terrorist extremism. Christians and Jews are in a battle against principalities and powers that would seek to take our minds off of God who is our salvation. Anything the devil can do to make us doubt God's love, Christ's sufficiency, and the power of the Holy Spirit, he will do. Focused prayer and a global strategic plan are desperately needed to counter the Islamic political movement but who in government prays or thinks ahead anymore?

The western world is blindly following a failed multicultural politically correct path leading to a future that looks like what England and France are currently experiencing and what is coming to America with the failure of the assimilation of immigrants. In England and France there were no major Muslim problems ten years ago but today there are areas of Third World Muslims, living by their own rules and hating the society that is content to let them receive handouts from the welfare state. It seems unbelievable, but Islamist groups are, as we speak, hard at work creating Muslim states-within-states in the western world including the U.S. The most popular baby name in the United Kingdom during 2010 was Muhammad which demonstrates the massive failure of European politically correct multiculturalism efforts. The lack of any attempt at assimilation by Muslims into the various Christian cultures coupled with soaring immigration rates may result, as historian, Bernard Lewis, suggests, “In a Muslim majority by the end of the twenty-first century, at the latest.”<sup>2</sup>

In this book I choose to use the terms, humanist atheist, and secular politically correct rather synonymously as evidence of their linkage in the culture, while recognizing that not all atheists or non-believers are, in fact, haters. I believe as did St. Augustine, Martin Luther, and John Calvin that mankind's flesh is sinful, though there is good and bad to be found in every person.

When speaking about others, I am careful to note the significant difference between descriptive facts and labels. I prefer to stick to the facts and not make assumptions about people. When I use the term secular politically correct I am only identifying those who have an irrational fear or hatred of Christianity and mean no offense to the non-believers who do tolerate, accept, and respect Christianity and its followers. I am sure there are many non-believers who neither hate nor fear Christianity and I have nothing but love in my heart for each one of them; I pray for them to receive the gift of faith in their hearts. But I am aware that there are evil people that are doing their best to destroy all that which is held sacred. They will not be satisfied until they have destroyed everything that is uplifting and good.

The force of evil is very real and we must begin to call evil by its true name. The truth is Christians are hated and feared on a global basis; they are being murdered for their beliefs in Egypt, and throughout the Middle East. In America, churches have been burned to the ground and bible study groups have been shut down by local authorities. Christian ridicule is common in public schools and at universities across America. Aggressive religious ridicule not tolerated towards racial, and gender groups is tolerated towards Christians by governmental and school authorities. Christian students have been mocked for praying, spit on and laughed at for their faith. Prejudicial actions against Christians are ignored and Christians who complain are said to be thin skinned. Ridicule is prejudice and prejudice in any form is wrong.

Due to prejudicial opinion, Christian solutions and alternatives to solve problems are routinely ignored by governmental bodies. Public schools and universities in America and in many other countries openly preach Atheism to their students while blacklisting Christians from employment and barring any mention of Christianity on their campuses while Satan celebrates amid the cultural chaos and confusion.

This book presents the facts of the Bible, history and science-facts that the Atheists would wish suppressed. However, I believe these facts offer hope for humanity all over the world by explaining how and where the world has gone wrong since the big lie of Darwin's so called creation by evolution compared to the truth of God. Chapter 4 of this book asks Christians to stand up against evil, making it possible for children to develop a foundational Christian worldview. We need to help children develop a sense of protection in God's almighty shadow and we need to instill in them a strong love and dedication to Christ by encouraging open and honest communication while building a sense of teamwork by locking arms within the Christian community. My experience and lifelong study have led me to the conclusion that the Christian worldview is the one and only comprehensive truth set that breaks down the wall between the spiritual and the natural worlds, bringing everything together so that children may understand their world and their place in it. Without a godly worldview bringing it all together, there can be no happiness, peace, or dignity to life---only uncertainty, anger and confusion.

Chapter 5 of this book offers mathematical, scientific, historical and biblical substantiation for God's existence, while chapter 6 offers specific application---that is, real help for families, churches, schools and universities to bring about needed change. Chapter 7 is my account of the knack I had for being in the wrong place at the wrong time when I was a young drifter. I was looking for happiness and peace but finding only drama, misery, sadness and dead end roads. Near to the end of the book you will find a brief, fun test to see if you are a Christian or a Christianphobe. The deadly forces of evil and Christian-hating political secularists avoid what they do not wish to see; they are absolutely deaf to what they don't want to know; and they totally ignore what they do not wish to hear. We Christians are watching. We are listening. We are waiting. For far too long, we have tolerated being lost on a long and very dark path of tolerating evil as good. We Christians are not a small minority as the world would have us believe; we form a majority and it's time we started acting like it. We in America, and in the West as a whole, need to stop apologizing for our culture. Our Founding Fathers who came before us have created something great, and that is why people leave their non-Christian nations to come here and to other Western nations. How dare anyone say they have a right to the benefits of our society while at the same time attacking the root of our culture? It is selfish and insulting to demand that the majority alter something sacred, simply for the convenience or comfort of an unreasonable minority. The only way back to greatness is to embrace the foundational truth of the cross. The strong church emphasis that formed the foundation of world governments in the past was shaped with Christian virtue, not the weakened and neutral politically correct tolerance for everything and everyone as evident today.

With a lifetime of study, several university graduate degrees, and years of study and research, I understand the complexity of this subject and have full confidence in the truth of what I am presenting. Looking at the world, it is obvious that there are many perceptions of “truth” at work, creating global cultural chaos. Jesus defined and clarified what the truth offers for believers in John 6:14: “I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (KJV).